

- Rajah is a diploid type red clover
- Intermediate to late flowering variety
- True grazing type with excellent growth recovery
- Productive in spring, summer and early autumn
- Very low oestrogen
- Suitable for grazing and fodder conservation
- Highly productive
- Improved grazing tolerance
- Good early production
- Rajah has a good resistance against Sclerotinia and nematodes, which secures a good persistence